Washington, March 26—(AP)—All Americans have evacuated Nanking and have boarded American naval vessels at that port, Rear Admiral Hough advised the navy department today. With the exception of Dr. J. E. Williams, the Admiral said no other American dead had been found.

Shanghai, March 26—(AP)—All the Americans at Nanking other than the ones known to be killed and four injured, are accounted safe in wireless dispatches received here shortly before 6 o'clock tonight.

The 120 Americans who took refuge in Nanking University from the rioting Chinese are all reported aboard the ships in the river. The known American casualties are:

Washington, March 26—(AP)—Peaceful evacuation of American refugees in Nanking University now is under way, Admiral Williams, commander of American naval forces in Chinese waters today advised the navy department.

The reassuring dispatch indicates that the virtual ultimatum delivered by Admiral Hough and his British colleagues had its effect on the nationalist leaders who recently realized in time that the frowning guns of the allied warships meant business, and were not unmuzzled in bluff. The messages did not state whether Chiang Kai Shek, generalissimo of the Cantonese army, had arrived in Nanking and promised the charge of heart by his officers.

The latest serious developments in China have riveted the attention of military and naval observers here on the question of the adequacy of the American forces in Chinese waters.

President Coolidge has said that he considers the marines are ships on hand sufficient unless there are additional dangerous developments.

To Admiral Williams, however, is left the decision as to the forces he needs.

Dr. J. E. Williams of Shawnee, Ohio, vice president of Nanking University.

Dr. Williams was shot in cold blood at his home near the university. The crime was witnessed by his wife and other Americans. One of the witnesses today said that Dr. Williams stood outside his home while the Cantonese soldiers departed. He called out "good bye" in Cantonese, whereupon a soldier turned and shot him.

Although dispatches from Nanking fail to state definitely that American forces participated in the landing party which went to the rescue of the foreigners, concentrated on Soceny Hill, Thursday, American officials here believe they undoubtedly did.

Marines in Fight

At least it is certain that the marine guards of the United States consulate at Nanking took part in the fighting and that they themselves splendidly. They were largely responsible for safely bringing out the Soceny Hill party, including the American consul, John K. Davis.

Harrowing tales of escapes from death at the hands of lawless beasts, Chinese soldiers were related by Nanking refugees arriving at Shanghai on the steamers Kungwa and Wenchow. The number of refugees brought by the two ships totaled 220.

Told of Escape

Mrs. John K. Davis, wife of the United States consul, told of the flight of Americans including herself and her two children from the consulate. Mr. Davis ordered the men to resume their arms and the party started for Soceny Hill.

Under Constant Fire

WAR ON TRUCKS OF OVERWEIGHT BEING PUSHED TO LIMITNumerous Warrants Are Issued for Drivers of Heavy Trucks

The war on trucks violating the state or county gross weight limits is being waged with a vengeance by state and county officials. The Interstate Trucking company, which conducts a line of heavy freight trucks from Davenport to Chicago appears to be the greatest alleged offender, judging from the number of warrants which have been issued out of Justice Grover W. Gehard's court. State motorcycle officers have caused the warrants to be issued against three of the Inter-State drivers.

Roy Traves of Chicago is charged with leaving a loaded truck parked on the Lincoln Highway at the curve east of the Capital Grove without lights on the front or rear. The truck, it is reported was run off the paving and endangering traffic for three days at the curve.

W. W. Knowles and Chris Mulholland, drivers of Chicago, were charged in separate warrants this morning, with hauling overloaded trucks on the Lincoln Highway.

Leo Book, driving a truck for the Dixon Fruit company, was arrested today on a warrant which charged that he left his truck parked on the Lincoln Highway east of the city last night without displaying rear light.

The Dixon Duntle company paid a fine of $25 and costs in Justice Gehard's court yesterday on a charge of hauling an overload on the county roads, the arrest having been made by one of the special deputies guarding the county highways.

A warrant has also been issued for the driver of one of the Sawyer Blount company's trucks, running out of Rockford, for hauling an over load on the county highways.

Many Kiwanians to Hear O'Neill Talk

Indications at noon today pointed to a large gathering in the parlors of the Christian church Tuesday evening when Owen O'Neill, African explorer and author will deliver his address to members of the Kiwanis club and their ladies. L. E. Jacobsen of the program committee had received a large number of reservations up until Friday noon and many more were expected today, which indicated that the speaker would be greeted by a large gathering.

Judge Heer Heads
Galena Boy Scouts

Stockton—U. S. Grant council, Boy Scouts of America, comprising troops in the counties of Carroll, Jo Daviess, and Stephenson, has been organized, with headquarters in Stockton. Circuit Judge Harry L. Heer of Galena has been elected president, and W. G. Siemen of Stockton, council treasurer.

The name of U. S. Grant council was deemed most appropriate because of the fact that the council is composed largely of troops in and around Galena, where U. S. Grant lived for many years before he became famous as a military leader.

President Heer has called a meeting of the council for April 21, when organization work will be completed and plans made for this summer's activities.

OIL PRODUCTOIN IN STATE TO FALL OFF
DURING NEXT YEARNew Producing Fields are Essential if Supply is to be Kept Up

Urbana, Ill., March 26—(AP)—A program of "wildcatting" to discover new producing areas, or to prove the existence of deeper producing sands in the older shallow pools, is necessary if the present annual production of oil in Illinois is maintained for another year. The Illinois field produced about 750,000 barrels of oil during 1926, only eight percent less than the production of the two previous years.

Gail P. Moulton of the State Geological Survey, commenting on petroleum in Illinois during 1926, said, "because no new producing areas are outlined or developed for the coming year, it is believed that unless the average price of crude oil for 1927 is $2.50 or more per barrel, the production for the year will show a much greater decline than in the few years previous, and will be only about 7,500,000 barrels."

"If the price of oil is materially higher, it is very probable that the operators will clean out old wells and apply improved recovery methods to such an extent that within a year or two the production will reach 10,000,000 barrels per year."

"New drilling for 1927 will be much less than for either 1925 or 1926 unless a new producing area is discovered during the early part of the year, for the greater part of the new producing territory has been drilled up, and few proven locations are in sight outside of the area of the old pools where the expectation is that wells will be small."

"The present outlook is that several wildcat locations will be drilled in Wabash County and some test wells will be drilled on the structures recommended by the State Geological Survey in Bond, Madison, Macoupin and Montgomery counties in western Illinois."

"At least two structures which appear to have excellent prospects have been mapped and recommended and information given the Survey indicates that several wells are planned for the near future."

COUPLE MURDERED
TEN DAYS AGO IN LOCKED UP HOUSEMutilated Bodies of Man and Woman Found in Miami

Miami, Fla., March 26—(AP)—Authorities investigating the hatchet slaying of Mrs. Anna Nevers, 42, and her husband, Edward Nevers, 40, who were found today with the task of establishing positive identification of the man's body found in the same room with the mutilated body of Mrs. Nevers.

The bodies were found last night and the double murder is believed to have been committed ten days ago. Identification was difficult because of the condition of both bodies.

Investigators today advanced the theory that the dead man is C. H. Collins, roomer at the Nevers home, whom police previously announced they would seek for questioning. Collins' automobile was found in the garage while the Nevers couple was being murdered. Authorities have dismissed robbery as a possible motive for the double slaying.

AN EARLIER REPORT

Miami, Fla., March 26—(AP)—A house in a secluded section, that for ten days held behind locked doors the mutilated bodies of Mrs. Edward Nevers, 42, and a man thought to be her husband, echoed movements of the police today.

A blood stained hatchet and a whiskey still, found in a garage from which the Nevers' expensive automobile had disappeared, served only to mystify the police in the slaying. Police were searching for a man known as a friend of the family, who until recently occupied a room in the house.

Mrs. Nevers' body, the head cut off, was found in a room, identified by acquaintances as Nevers, was stuffed in a hall closet, a rope around the neck. There were no signs of a struggle. A string of pearls, jewelry and deeds to property was found intact, as were several trunks.

Mr. and Mrs. Nevers came to Miami from Chicago about four years ago. A string of pearls, jewelry and deeds to property was found intact, as were several trunks.

Federal Courts are on Financial Rocks

Springfield, Ill., March 26—(AP)—Straitened financial circumstances of the southern district federal court, due to failure of the short session of Congress to pass the emergency appropriations act, leaves the docket with more than 500 cases which cannot be tried until July 1.

Complying with an order of Attorney General Sargent to cut activities of the court to a minimum, Judge Louis Fitzhugh, ordered that no more petit or grand juries be summoned after July 1. A jury called to meet in Quincy, March 24, returned a few indictments, and adjourned sine die March 22.

District Attorney Walter announced that civil and criminal are awaiting action on the court docket. Three-fourths of these are for violation of Prohibition laws. This number was augmented by the indictments returned at Quincy, and it is expected that district federal charges will be preferred by prohibition enforcement officers in the intervening months.

The southern district, it was said, had been conducted on the least possible funds for several months. The crowded condition of the docket when the attorney general's order went into effect.

Paw Paw Woman Got Bone
Stuck in Throat Opening

Mrs. F. J. Adams of Paw Paw had a very painful experience this week which might have become much more serious had it not been for the efforts of a local physician.

The physician called but without adequate instruments could not bring it up. It was determined to bring her to Dixon where it might be extracted. Before she had got started however, she was fortunate enough to force the bone out of place by the simple expedient of eating a piece of dry crust. The bone is sore, but the cause is removed.

GREAT PICTURE
OF WORLD MEET
AT HELSINGFORSGiven by Railroad Delegate to Conference
Held Last Year

Chicago, Ill., March 26—(AP)—A colorful picture of the world's conference of the Y. M. C. A. at Helsingfors, Finland, last year was drawn for delegates to the working boys' conference here today by Warren King of the Great Northern Railway.

"Two hundred and thirty boys from twenty-six nations," he said, "exchanged ideas and fraternized together in their discussions. Youth from all over the world was found to be critical, alert, and progressive."

"They arrived by rail, water, and air—Indians with (S)ans, Egyptians with red fez, Chinese with their flowing silk gowns, and Scots with their kilts. The sight was so unusual to Finlanders that they stood for hours in front of our meeting place."

"We learned to listen to and respect the other man's point of view, although we did not always agree with it. We did not attempt to solve in a few days problems that have been vexing mankind for generations. We did find, however, that it was possible for men and boys of many nations to meet in a spirit of friendliness and tolerance. It may seem a trifle when one makes thousands of miles to make this apparently simple discovery. But you only have to reflect on the inability of statesmen to agree on international issues to realize how much it meant to find out that people could get together to understand the other fellow's point of view."

"Our departure from Europe left us with a better understanding of many controversial problems, with a deeper appreciation of cultural life, and a higher respect for ideals that have guided our forefathers for centuries. We found that foreigners are not strangers; they are just individuals who have been reared in another environment."

Co. Oil Inspector
Upheld in Opinion

Springfield, Ill., March 26—(AP)—Appointment of a county oil inspector is constitutional and dealers outside the city limits are subject to pay fees imposed by him. Attorney General Oscar H. Carlstrom said today in an opinion requested by State Attorney Russell O. Hansen of Ottawa.

"It is said that the public in the use of the oil products enumerated in the State Law," the attorney general said, "the legislature provided for the inspection of oil both in cities, villages and incorporated towns and in the territory of the county outside of the limits of said cities, villages and towns."

"The contention of the oil dealers that the oil inspector act empowers the county oil inspector to examine only such oil products as are used for illuminating purposes, and that the inspection of oil products enumerated in the act kept and sold for other purposes is not contemplated is without merit."

FORD CONNECTED WITH SCHEME TO DEFEAT SAPIROSurprise Witness Called Before Court Adjourned for Week End

Detroit, March 26—(AP)—The jury in the Sapiro case, $1,000,000 libel suit has a week-end subject for thought in the first direct testimony connecting the famous automobile manufacturer with a series of articles attacking the famous Jewish organizer of former cooperative organizations.

Just a few minutes before time for court to adjourn and send the six women and six men of the jury home for two days, Sapiro's counsel, William H. Gallagher, found an opportunity to dismiss Cameron, subject of re-call, and inserted James M. Miller, newspaperman, who identified himself as writer of an authorized edition of "The Amazing Story of Henry Ford" and as a one year employee of the Dearborn Independent Company.

Ford asked him if he knew Sapiro and received the reply that he knew Sapiro. Miller, a surprise witness testified.

Then came the bit of evidence that has developed to connect Ford with the Independent articles Sapiro says damaged his reputation and limited his efforts.

Ford told him, testified Miller, that Sapiro and some other Jews were organizing the bulk of the farmers and that "we are going to expose him; I think we can unseat his apple cart."

Today, with Sapiro in New York, it appeared that he would have to rush back for a witness stand appearance Monday.

The plaintiff's counsel had not fully matured his plans, however, although it seemed that Black, Sapiro, some depositions and then Ford was the intended order.

See Hope of Peace
in Miners' Fight

West Frankfort, Ill., Mar. 26—(AP)—A slight ray of hope for settlement of the wage controversy between coal mine owners and miners without a strike April 1, was seen here today with the posting of notices at the two camps of the Industrial Coal Company telling the men to "work right on."

The notice ordered machine men to continue cutting and ordered loaders to continue loading coal. It requires about three days to clean up the underground workings preparatory to a suspension.

Mine officials declined to say what connection the order had with the possibilities of a settlement, but the fact that the prospect for a last minute settlement might not be as remote as it would appear on the surface.

STAY IN ILLINOIS
IS ADVICE GIVEN
BY STATE C. OF C.Business Success More Likely Here Than Anywhere Else

Chicago, March 26—(AP)—Horace Greely's "Go West Young Man" was put aside for "Stay in Illinois, my boy," by Harvey T. Hill, general secretary of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce in addressing the second annual Y. M. C. A. state conference of younger men and employed boys in commerce and industry here today.

Mr. Hill reviewed the opportunities Illinois offers the younger man.

"You can achieve business success quicker, easier and more certainly in Illinois," he told them, "than anywhere else in the world."

"I like to think of Illinois" he continued, "as the cross roads of the nation's commerce. Just as the busy corners of cities are the most valuable property in Illinois, so the United States' most valuable property from the standpoint of commerce."

In the first place, the center of population in the United States is in Illinois, which means that a business located here is nearer to more people than if it were located anywhere else.

In the second place, the center of the number of farms in the United States is in Illinois, which means that the farm home in the United States can be reached with less travel from Illinois than from any other place in the country.

In the third place, on account of our railroad transportation system, it is quicker, easier and cheaper to ship from the cities of Illinois to the rest of the cities of the country than from any other group of cities to all the rest of the United States.

In the fourth place, the center of industry is moving toward Illinois, which means that men like yourselves looking forward and desiring to be in the center of the nation's industry in the years just ahead will find Illinois the proper place.

"Illinois is the center of the nation's largest power pool. It is the center of the grain production and market of the United States. In fact, the economic balance of Illinois and the adjacent territory is more perfect than can be found anywhere else."

"Government reports classify all lines of industry into 333 groups. They also show that Illinois has 323 of these branches of industry. The ten which we do not have are comparatively unimportant. Therefore, it does not matter much what kind of business you want to become a part of what kind of industry you are most interested in, you will find an opportunity ahead of you for success in Illinois, which can not be developed elsewhere in the world."

Send Enough Ships
to Stop Fight

Shanghai, March 26—(AP)—The foreign powers cannot send enough warships to China to suppress the aspirations of the Chinese people, says a statement issued in the name of General (Chiang Kai) Shieh, the Cantonese commander-in-chief, who arrived in Shanghai today.

Washington, March 26—(AP)—A force of 1,500 additional marines have been ordered to China by the navy department. Details as to what units will go are yet to be worked out.

Increase of the forces now under command of Admiral Williams in the Chinese war zone was decided on after the admiral had reported that excesses among the undisciplined Cantonese troops in the Yangtze river cities presented a situation fraught with grave possibilities. It was indicated that if still other military units were needed the army would be called upon for men. It has some infantry troops available both in Hawaii and in the Philippines. The 1,500 marines will be drawn from the Atlantic coast expeditionary base at Quantico, Va., and other marine stations along the Atlantic coast.

They will be sent across the country by rail and embark from San Diego.

Clearing House Report

New York, Mar. 26—(AP)—The actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows excess reserves of $103,078,329. This is a decrease of $12,074,940 compared with the week before when excess reserve of $15,153,269 was reported.

Butter Market

Chicago, March 26—(AP)—During the week ending March 19, prices declined sharply under heavy foreign offerings at low figures and a general feeling of uncertainty in the situation. Buyers had been operating on a hand to mouth basis and their stocks were evidently reduced to almost bare floors.

On Monday, March 21, all markets were decidedly firm with prices advanced ranging from 1 to one and a half cents on practically all grades. Supplies were light and receivers held all grades closely. A desire to anticipate future needs further aggravated the situation and prices advanced sharply each day.

The firmness at New York was tempered somewhat by the arrival of 15,287 boxes of Argentine and New Zealand butter and 673 casks of Danish butter.

With consumption apparently well maintained, operators are expressing no great concern regarding the possibility of sharp declines to lower levels as production continues to run below that of a week ago.

Weekly Grain

Chicago, Mar. 26—(AP)—United States red winter wheat in the world at this time. Some authorities expressed belief today that such cheapness, due in large degree to unexcelled conditions prevailing for new crop domestic wheat is mainly responsible for rallying the wheat market as a whole about 30 from recent declines of almost 11c a bushel.

Compared with a week ago, wheat today despite rallies in the last 2 days was 1 1/2 to 2 1/2c down with corn futures 2 1/2 to 2 3/4c off, oats showing 1/2 to 1 1/2c drop, but provisions 5c to 4c up.

Liverpool May delivery which a few weeks ago was only 5c to 6c over Chicago, is now 13c to 14c above.

Prospective unusual early opening of lake navigation however, is counted on to release a huge volume of Canadian wheat and this fact may have considerable influence regarding future European call for wheat from the United States.

Failure of eastern shipping demand to improve in the corn market here forced down for future deliveries but corn values meanwhile have virtually stood still.

Oats seeding is recorded as well under way with indications pointing to a moderate increase of acreage.

Buying to anticipate after Easter demand has developed to strengthen the provision market.

Jesus Teaches in Parables

The same gospel of God's love seeking the sinner is further emphasized in the story of the woman searching diligently until she finds a lost piece of money. (Luke XV: 8-10)

But greatest of all is the Parable of the Prodigal Son, who took his journey into a far country, and who fell into sin and want. (Luke XV: 11-17)

SYNOPSIS ARRANGED BY DR. WM. E. GILROY, D. D. SKETCHES BY KROESEN

And of the loving father, longing for his lost son, who welcomed him home with joy and forgiveness, when he returned, sadder, wiser and repentant. A great message concerning God's fatherhood. (Luke XV: 18-32)

AMERICANS EVACUATED FIGHT ZONE

they were almost surrounded. There they took refuge temporarily in a bamboo grove. Three soldiers who followed fifty yards to the rear, fired and hit Private Plumley in the back. He fell, but gamely returned the fire, killing two of his assailants. The others fled.

The party ran the rest of the way and gained the bloody station where several Britishers and Americans had already assembled.

Other groups of refugees arrived, bringing the total to more than fifty. Soldiers in nationalist uniforms began coming to the house in large groups demanding money and threatening to kill all within.

Main Desire to Kill
This occurred several times. Mr. Davis and Earl T. Hobart, Standard Oil manager, risked their lives while facing the soldiers and arguing with them in Chinese. Finally one of the soldiers said to Mr. Davis: "We don't want your money. We want to kill you. We'll kill Americans, French, British or any foreigners."

At 3 o'clock the firing became heavier. Mr. Paxton, who had left the party while it was on the way to Seouky Hill to seek two Kuomintang (nationalist) friends, returned with them bearing a Kuomintang flag. This seemed to enrage the soldiers who tore down the flag and began attacking the house in earnest, starting to crowd up the entry way and stairs. The natives were ordered to arm and prepare to fight.

Rocket Summoned Aid
"A rocket—the agreed signal asking the warship for aid—was sent up," Mrs. Davis continued.

"The women and children were all shut in the bath room where they lay on the floor, hearing the bullets crashing through windows and whistling around the hill, drawing off the attackers. We breathed again. We seized this chance to escape."

Mrs. Davis then told how the party climbed down from the second story using sheets, ropes, curtains and blankets.

Climbed Over Wall
They had reached the city wall, which is forty feet high. They climbed the steps on the inside, but had to let each other down on the other side by means of ropes. Mr. Hobart fell 20 feet and broke an ankle.

Beyond the wall a moat had to be crossed, then two miles across open fields. Throughout the party was armed with rifles and machine guns. The machine guns added Private Plumley and Mr. Hobart to reach the river where the party obtained sampans and set out in the direction of the ships.

At 10 o'clock Thursday night, Mrs. Davis and her children were placed aboard the Kungwo which sailed early Friday morning. Mr. Davis remained at Nanking.

The Japanese acted independently throughout the crisis at Nanking, not sharing in the bombardment around Seouky Hill and working alone to safeguard their own 200 nationals, although they aided other foreigners when occasion offered.

Refugees arriving in Shanghai from Nanking are quoted as saying: "The navy saved us. Without it, every foreigner would have been murdered. The bombardment alone saved us from death."

Although news dispatches today said all Americans at Nanking were reported safe, the advices as to conditions elsewhere are not so complete. In addition the property rights of American property remains at the mercy of the riotous hands of undisciplined Chinese troops at Nanking and elsewhere.

OLD MASTERS

How do I love thee? Let me count the ways.
I love thee to the depth and breadth and height.
My soul can reach, when feeling out of sight,
For the ends of Being and Me and Grace.
I love thee to the level of every day's
Most quiet need, by the sun and candle light.
I love thee freely, as men strive for Right;
I love thee purely, as they turn from Praise;
I love thee with the passion put to use
In my old griefs, and with my childhood's faith.
I love thee with a love I seemed to lose
With my lost saints—I love thee with the breath,
Smiles, tears, of all my life—and, if I could, of God's choice,
I shall but love thee better after death.

—Elizabeth Barrett Browning:
From "Sonnets From the Portuguese."

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—Apple sauce, cereal, cream, crisp graham toast, broiled bacon, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cream of spinach soup, hot cheese sandwiches, celery and cabbage salad, canned strawberries, drop cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Boiled dinner of corned beef and winter vegetables, lettuce and tomato salad, maple nut charlotte, rye bread, milk, coffee.

Do you ever visualize your menus as you read them over? It adds much interest to the serving of them. For in this day of colored linen runners and cloths you can make the family luncheon or breakfast table a veritable picture. You, yourself may be the only one at the table who really appreciates the color effect but every member of the family will blindly, perhaps, enjoy his meal more than usual and your secret satisfaction will be great. The luncheon menu is colorful and offers opportunity for experiment.

Maple Nut Charlotte
One-half cup scalded milk, 1-2 cup maple syrup, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1-4 teaspoon vanilla, few grains salt, 1-2 cup finely chopped nuts, 1 cup whipping cream, sponge cake or lady fingers.

Heat milk in top of double boiler and slowly add maple syrup. Let gelatin stand in cold water for ten minutes and add to hot milk. Stir over hot water until gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Remove at once from heat and place pan in ice water. When mixture begins to thicken add whipping cream and fold in cream whipped until firm. Line a mold with split lady fingers or thin slices of sponge cake. Pour in gelatin mixture. Chill before serving.

For a festive occasion, garnish with whipped cream and halves of nuts to serve. But the pudding is delicious served plain.

Salts Fine for Aching Kidneys

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Miss Wilson Organized League Nations Library

Geneva, Mar. 26—That women with brains can hold down big jobs without losing their womanliness is proved in the case of the League of Nations. Its covenant requires that places in the secretariat which employ some 600 people shall be open to both sexes on a basis of equality.

An American girl, Miss Florence Wilson of New York, organized the great league library with several hundred volumes. She started with a few books which were donated after she had completed her service as a Dame Commander of the British Empire.

Englishwomen predominate in the place higher up. Miss Joan Howard, secretary to Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary general, is the niece of Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador to Washington.

Dame Rachel Crowley directs the important section which is devoted to the suppression of opium and narcotic drugs and to other social questions. She had a brilliant war career, having been in charge of the British voluntary aid nurses at the front. Several thousand women were directly responsible to her. Dame Rachel is a Dame Commander of the British Empire.

Miss M. E. Hoeking, daughter of Joseph Hoeking, the English novelist, directs the distribution of all league documents to all member states. She is a graduate of London University, served as nurse during the war, and joined the staff of the English ministry of food, later going to Holland as secretary of the inter-allied food commission.

Doctor Gertrude C. Dixon knows more about the traits of the members of the League Council than anybody. It is she who distributes official documents to the Council. She is an encyclopedia of information. When the Council is in session she has the big task of editing the Official Journal.

Perhaps the most picturesque woman worker, however, is Princess Gabrielle Radziwill, descendant of one of the oldest aristocratic families of Lithuania. She has a colorful war career, after which in England she invested the remnant of her fortune in courses of book-keeping, stenography and typewriting. Master of several languages she applied for a place at Geneva and is now a member of the information section. From the standpoint of the international public, Miss Vera G. Ward, an English girl, holds a place of special importance, for as general secretary of the information section, she personally furnishes all documents and communicates to the press.

MUNICIPAL BAND FOR ENJOYMENT OF ALL PEOPLE

Services Rendered by Such Organization are Summed Up

"If the municipal band did nothing but give us half a dozen concerts during the year, every taxpayer in Dixon will have had more than his money's worth from his investment."

In these words does one of the sponsors sum up the services which a municipal band renders to the community.

"What a town like Dixon will appreciate as much as anything else is good, clean, wholesome entertainment that the family may enjoy together. Nothing so quickly brings people out and in their friendliest mood than open air music of a community or patriotic nature. It is a sociable gathering. People who seldom meet on other occasions, not only meet but stop to chat because they have leisure. And the more people in town call each other by their first names, the better off the town."

"Half a dozen patriotic concerts during the year will do more for Dixon than five times the same money spent on almost any other municipal improvement. Of course, the band will give us more than this, possibly weekly concerts."

"A band supported by voluntary contributions is like a nickel in the slot piano; when the nickels give out, the music stops. And somebody has to get out and pass the hat. You can't expect a band to amount to much if its members have to be working constantly about money. Let's put music in our annual budget by passing the band proposition at the April election, and stop passing the hat."

FRANKENSTEIN'S MONSTER.

An Ohio youth recently invented a new kind of radio receiving device. He installed it in the cellar of his home and called in his friends to see it work.

The friends formed an interested circle. The young inventor proudly explained everything. Then, with a little flourish, he stepped up, seized the switch, and threw on the current.

There was a sharp snap, a crackling sound, and the inventor dropped to the floor, dead. Something had gone wrong. His pet invention had electrocuted him.

Like Frankenstein, the young man was destroyed by a device of his own creation.

This idea—of a man destroyed by an invention that he cannot control—always has exercised a fascination for the human mind. It seems almost as if men realized, vaguely, that in the process of building up a civilization they had harnessed forces that are more easily started than stopped; as if they sensed dimly that in rising from the jungles of savagery they had taken up a burden which might well crush them if they were not wary.

This may sound a bit ponderous and far-fetched, but it isn't. No doubt you can recall the recent World War; did you ever realize that that war very nearly wrecked our civilization? Had the strain it imposed been just a little bit more severe the whole world would have slid back ten centuries into semi-barbarism.

But the World War was only a natural, logical outgrowth of the kind of civilization we had erected.

Mankind, literally, was nearly destroyed by a monster of its own creation.

Nor is that all. If there ever is another world war it will be worse than the last one—more costly by far in men, materials and money. Could the world survive it?

It is entirely within the bounds of possibility for white civilization to come to a climax and then collapse in a great armed conflict.

Frankenstein created a monster that he could not control, and it destroyed him. The young Ohio inventor invented a machine that did not act as he expected it would, and he too was destroyed.

We—all of us—have built up a civilization that contains within it the seeds of world-rending violence and destruction. Let us walk very carefully, and pursue our national and individual paths with extreme care, lest we too be destroyed.

YOU'RE IN THE ARMY NOW.

The old order changeth, giving place to new—or so, at least, said the poet.

This maxim, it seems, applies even to so conservative an institution as the United States army.

Recently Congress increased the allowance for the dough-boy's food. Now there is made public a typical week-day menu for a detachment of regulars assigned to duty at West Point. Bear in mind that this food is served the regulars, not the cadets. Here is a sample dinner:

Noodle soup, oysters, chicken a la Maryland, mashed potatoes, creamed peas, dumplings, chili sauce, pineapple salad, hot biscuits, bread and butter, coffee and milk.

The navy's slogan is "Join the navy and see the world." The army should adopt something like "Join the army and eat like a king."

If, as Napoleon said an army travels and fights on its stomach, the American army ought to be able to whip any outfit on earth.

TO SHAKE OR NOT TO SHAKE.

President Coolidge, it is announced, does not think that his wrist was lamed by shaking hands with the daily horde of White House visitors. Instead he blames rheumatism.

Yet the incident serves to remind us of the national custom of the president devoting part of each day to shaking hands with every stranger who happens along.

What a foolish custom it is, looked at from the standpoint of the president's physical well-being!

And should it be discontinued permanently, how many thousands of folks would be deprived of the pleasure of telling their grandchildren how they shook hands with President So-and-So on such and such an occasion!

AIN'T GOLF GRAND?

Colored golf balls to match the player's costume are this year's rage on the links, according to a news dispatch. And not the only rage either. . . . But you'd better not let Secretary Kellogg hear of you knocking around red golf balls. . . . In South Carolina the golfers will use blue golf balls—to match the laws. . . . What does a caddy think about when he sees a green suit coming out to play? . . . One advantage of green—you can kick the ball around and no one will be the wiser. . . . But plenty of golfers see enough red without putting a red golf ball in front of them.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Tiniest sat around in glee and heard the tunes of Fiddlers Three. King Cole kept up their playing till they all grew very tired. And then when they were finally through, Woe Clowdy did a jig or two. He shouted, "By the music they've been playing I'm inspired."

The old king laughed to see him dance and said, "I'd also take a chance, but really I am much too old to do a jig or reel." "Oh, no you're not," one Tiniest said, "just try your luck. Go right ahead, 'cause, after all, you only are as aged as you feel."

The king thought maybe that was true, so he began at prancing too. But after 'bout two minutes he was tired as could be. He sat right down and said, "I'm done. To dance may be a heap of fun for all you little Tiniesties, but, frankly, not for me."

Then Scouty said, "Well, I believe it is time for us to leave. We thank you for the fun we've had."

SAINT and SINNER

When Mary Kearney again took the stand on Thursday morning, Banning kept her until almost twelve o'clock before he permitted Churchill to begin his cross-examination of the state's star witness.

Banning's last line of questioning returned to the subject of Churchill's appearance when she had entered the downstairs hall of the Cluny mansion, admitted by Mary.

"Now, Mary, tell me as nearly as you can remember how Miss Cherry was dressed," Banning directed her.

"Well, sir, she was wearing a brown coat, and a little brown hat. Velours, as girls call it," and Mary simpered as she smiled toward Cherry who was regarding her with wide, grave, golden eyes.

"It is snowing, you have said, Mary. Didn't Miss Cherry wear a cloak over the coat?"

"No sir, just a coat. She stepped right out of the closed coupe into the house, you know, and didn't have time to get cold."

"Don't draw conclusions, Mary. Just answer the questions as they are asked. Now, Mary, did you notice whether Miss Cherry was wearing gloves?" Banning sprung his question with a meaning smile at the jury.

"Yes, sir, she was wearing gloves. Brown kid gloves, the gauntlet kind, with stitched cuffs. I noticed them particular because I've always wanted some just like that."

"Now, Mary, think hard," Banning admonished the girl. "You have testified that you saw Miss Cherry in the grasp of Mr. Cluny."

beating at his breast with her hands. Did you notice whether her hands were gloved or bare?"

Cherry leaned toward Churchill, whispered excitedly: "I had taken my gloves off. I took them off to give him back my engagement ring!"

Faith heard her words, and when Mary Kearney's answer to Banning's question came, she leaned back limply, closing her eyes as if she were about to faint, for Mary Kearney said:

"She was still wearing her gloves sir."

When at last Churchill had his chance at the witness, he went at her with head down, eyebrows beetling over his keen, frowning eyes, like an angry bull charging.

"Mary Kearney, you have testified here that you recognized Mr. Chris Wiley as he sat in the car. Now, it was dark outside, wasn't it? It was snowing pretty hard, wasn't it?"

"How far was that car from the doorway, Mary?"

"It was parked just outside the porte cochere, about twenty-five feet from the front door. Parked sideways, and I looked out the door to see how Miss Cherry had come and I seen the coupe parked there. The window of the car was down and I seen Mr. Chris Wiley sitting there by the wheel."

"In the dark?" Churchill snapped, as Judge Grimshaw picked up his gavel to declare the mid-day recess.

"There—there was a light on in the car. The dash-board light, I guess it was," Mary answered belatedly, obviously relieved that Churchill's searching cross-examination.

MONDAY—Mary confesses taking Cherry's ring.

CONFESSIONS OF WASHINGTON WIVES

BEING INTIMATE STORIES OF THE WOMAN'S SIDE OF OFFICIAL LIFE IN THE CAPITAL

BY ALLENE SUMNER

Washington—Flaming youth is perhaps Washington's biggest problem. Not because it flames any more hotly than in other climates, but because it costs so much.

If you have a daughter, the daughter must "come out." And "coming out" can cost very little less than at least a thousand dollars, and then the fruit punch won't be as strong as it might be. It's hard work being a deb in the capital city. First of all, there are 30 girls to every "eligible male," and by "eligible" one means a male whose name is on a social secretary's list.

The Elevator Man.

His occupation doesn't especially matter. In fact, one girl who danced divinely in the arms of a soulful-swing at a dinner the night before, found herself riding in the elevator when he motormans, the next day.

Social secretaries are leathery to confess that elevator motormans are on their priceless "men" lists which are soiled for a nice sun. But they don't deny it.

Giggles, being those well-groomed members of the genus male who toll not, neither do they drive cars, unless it be the car of some rich woman, are recognized necessities in Washington.

Dancing Partners Furnished.

Several social secretaries who will do everything and anything from arranging place cards in the White House state dining room to teaching a congressman's lady what to say when introduced, also keep lists of "personable young men" who will present themselves with a gardenia in the buttonhole to guide a rather stout and elderly dowager through the intricate mazes of the dance, if her check is big enough.

Back on Main Street a young man would be insulted unless he paid for his girl's ticket to a show, but in Washington the girl's family quite often supplies the ticket. Just the old story of supply and demand. Big demand. Small supply, so why should the supply spend money?

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BY AHERNS

Sowing of the Deb Crop.

The sowing of the deb crop is an interesting thing. Strictly speaking, any girl just anybody, can be a deb. Whether she gets by or not is another thing. Many try it, however.

There have been at least one and possibly two casualties this season. One girl in the case was fairly pretty, the daughter of a grocer who had made money. The family had plenty of money to play the deb pace and was very respectable. There was no scandal in the family's past, which is more than can be said concerning some of the most prominent families in Washington society.

"Rear Entrance" for Tradesmen.

But the snobbish elite of the capital have always referred to grocers' families as "tradesmen." It is significant that on every Washington apartment is the sign, "Tradesmen and Servants Use Rear Entrance." Washington society will welcome with open arms the humblest sixth secretary of a foreign legation, but the front door of aristocratic society is always closed to the wealthiest tradesmen.

But one social secretary decided to take a chance on the grocer's daughter. She arranged a "coming out" tea or her at one of the most aristocratic hotels, sent out the engraved invitations—but not six people attended.

The Case of Mrs. Wilson.

"The cave dwellers" sharpened their fangs when they heard, for instance, that none less than the president of the United States, Woodrow Wilson, was "paying attention" to the widow of a "mere tradesman." The widow was Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt, widow of a jeweler—"quite impossible socially," according to the edict.

But even "cave dwellers" cannot ignore president's wives, and when the "impossible Mrs. Galt" became Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, First Lady of the Land, the first to kowtow unto her were those who had scratched her to pieces during the wooing days of the president.

Few women have ever graced the White House with the poise and dignity and courage of this Mrs. Wilson, and the greatest evidence of her real worth was the fact that, though given glorious opportunity to do so, she never "got even" with the tables who called her "that tradesman's widow."

Can't Invite Her Own Beau

Early in the season a well-known social secretary generally invites all the debts to a tea. Thus they meet one another. Then they file applications for the services of the social secretary. She takes charge of everything—mails the invitations, hundreds of "the best people" whom the deb in question has never seen. The deb may not even invite her own beau.

Her fate is decided after the coming-out tea. If the invitations come in thick and fast, she is accepted. If not, she might as well dig a hole in the ground and pull the cover down over her.

"The cost? Oh, she can get through a season with $10,000 if she is careful, says social Washington."

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS NEW RULES TO BE GIVEN TESTS BY FOOTBALL TEAMS

Spring Training Will Show the Value of New Regulations

Chicago, Ill., March 26—(AP)—Laboratory tests will be made by the country's football coaches who have their teams in spring training on a new batch of rules that come from the annual meeting of the rules committee.

One of the new rules provides that the goal posts be moved back ten yards and placed on the boundaries of the end zone. Some of the experts who have had time to study the change believe the art of goal kicking from the field will nearly cease to become a factor in the scoring, under that regulation.

To score a point after touchdown means that the ball will have to be kicked at least 23 yards. The ball is placed in play on the three yard line as heretofore, and if the kicker stands ten yards back, he will have a ticklish job before him.

Players who could kick from placement, or drop kick field goals from the thirty yard line, or even farther back will find the handicap of the additional ten yards hard to overcome. Generally, however, the opinion prevails that the change is worth the experiment. The rules committee several years ago made a change in rules that tended to make goal kicking much easier. This was when the regulation provided for a free kick from the 25 yard line. This eventually gave way to a rule that the ball had to be put in play on the three yard line and now comes the new edict. The removal of the goal posts stimulates forward passing over the goal line.

The shift was not dealt harshly with, according to Knute Rockne, one of the leading exponents of that method of offense. The second interval between the jump and the snap of the ball will not interfere with the rhythm so necessary for the success of this play. The one second interval can be determined if the officials count 1-2-3-4 rapidly.

The 15-yard penalty adopted for violations of the one-second shift ruling is considered rather severe, however, and certainly will have a powerful influence on the coaches to see that their charges do not run afoul of the officials on this point. In the Army-Navy Game last fall the soldiers were penalized three times successively on illegal shift formations. The officials noted the foul back 15 yards for the three offenses, but under present conditions that would mean forty-five yards, and no team could stand such a setback.

The lateral pass and the backward pass should tend to open up the game, and bring out some sparkling work on the part of fast backs. The offense will be more nearly on a par with the defense, in the opinion of critics and the very fast backfield man who shows aptitude for grabbing backward and lateral passes is bound to make trouble for the ends. The coaches undoubtedly will have to adapt their defensive play to meet this threat by playing the ends a little wider, and even spreading the line. Together with the forward pass and the usual rushing, a smart quarterback with a knack for mixing his plays will keep the defensive team on the jump.

One of the most spectacular plays of the game, which is that of catching punts, will return once more, since the rules committee adopted a safeguard. Fumbled punts cannot be run for a touchdown by kicking team. The ball is dead. The custom for several years has been to let the ball strike the ground and roll until the referee blows the whistles, if there was the slightest chance that the catcher will be tackled immediately, or is hemmed in by opposing players.

Bits of News From Leaguers in Their Camps

Both Chicago pennant entries in the major league baseball races suffered at the hands of the home town lads in the spring training belt yesterday. Dallas, Texas League champions triumphed over the Sox 4-2. The Cubs outthrew the Angels at Los Angeles, but the latter scored a 5 to 4 victory over the Cubes.

With the New York Yankees hooked up with the Cardinals again in the first of a spring nine-game "little world series" at Avon Park, Fla. today, Tony Lazzeri will seek to prove that "old Pete" Alexander wasn't near as good nor Tony half as bad as they appeared in the fatal seventh last fall.

The Cardinals took their sixth victory in a game with the Phillies yesterday that somewhat resembled a track meet. All told they had 27 base runners and 16 men left on bases.

Manager Moriarty has split the Detroit Tigers into two squads, one to take the road today for exhibition games.

Carl Mays is slated to start for the Cincinnati Reds against the St. Louis Browns today.

Sherry Smith makes his first appearance today in the game with the Yankees at Lakeland, Fla., training camp of the Cleveland Indians.

The Pirates were stepping a little higher than usual today following their first shutout of the exhibition season yesterday when they trounced the San Francisco Seals 4-0.

Although Tris Speaker and Sam Rice have recovered partially from their injuries and once again are able to wear uniforms, they did not accompany the Senators to St. Augustine, Fla. today for another two game series with the New York Giants.

Leads the World in Motor Car Values

Add $50 or $60 to the down payment on a Four —and get a Nash

Nash 6-cylinder, 7-bearing performance costs little, if any, more than 4-cylinder performance.

You can buy a Nash Light Six enclosed car for as little as $925 f.o.b. factory—an amazingly low price for a car like this.

For besides the exceptional smoothness of Nash 6-cylinder, 7-bearing performance, the Nash Light Six has every worth-while feature of modern motoring:

Full force-feed lubrication; Nash mechanical 4-wheel brakes, with front wheel brakes totally enclosed. Double-beam headlights; Automatic windshield cleaner; Rear-view mirror; Gasoline gauge on instrument board.

5 Budd-Michelin steel disc wheels; Alemite chassis lubrication, instead of old-fashioned grease cups.

Air cleaner and oil filter to seal the engine; steering gear especially engineered for balloon tires.

And, in closed car bodies, genuine hardwood frames with rounded rear roofs like the costliest custom cars.

You can buy this car for about the same price as one of the higher priced fours. At the most, you'll only need to add $50 or $60 to your first payment.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Bob Ward, working his way through college, earns money as a dancing partner for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but he keeps on because he likes the money. At the inn he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on—Sally, the cigarette girl. Reciprocating his interest, she warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitué of the inn, who finds her "thrill" in Bob—she is the hunter, not the hunted! Then she and Sally scent enemies in each other.

CHAPTER IX.
On the afternoon when she favored the Palladium Inn with her presence, Mrs. Hammond's departure was usually a signal for most of the other women to go also. If men are the monkeys of the human race, then women are the apes. "Follow the leader" psychology, the herd instinct, is better represented in the female sex. So within a comparatively short time after Mrs. Hammond's costly car had slid swiftly away from the embowered portico of the inn, to disappear into the denseness of the New Jersey Hudson highland wilderness, there was a great whirling of starting motors, and clashing of gears in the big, drab yard of the inn. One after another the cars shot away—medium-priced to costly, chauffeur-driven in some cases, fair owners at the wheel in others.

Inside, with the going of the last reluctant guest, there was a bustle as the waiters cleared away the afternoon's wreckage and prepared for the night's festivities. The paid dancing entertainers, for whom there was scant need at night—and they were always on tap for that, if Madame Leonine summoned them by telephone—were preparing to go home.

Madame Leonine came up to Bob, even as Freddy and Arch were joshing him upon his apparent conquest of the rich and famous Mrs. Hammond. To the Madame it was not a matter of levity. She was in heavenly transports. She gushed over Bob like a general of gratitude. She congratulated him. She did everything but embrace him, and would have done that, too, if Bob himself had not held her off with his sturdy hands in a laughing way.

"Bob, you are a very lucky fellow. No one else has ever been able to please Mrs. Hammond. She has kept telling me she would come here no longer, if I didn't get some dancing partner she would like."

"She likes 'em big and brutal," laughed Freddy. He and Arch were overjoyed with Bob's success; and in no whit envious. Sworn chums all, the glory of one shed its radiance over the three. They had always been that way, since their freshman year up at good old N. Y. U.

"—and now, just before she left," confided the Madame with great gusto and satisfaction, "she told me she was coming every afternoon, and made me promise to have you here for her, Bob!"

Sally, who had changed to her street clothes, came into the outer dressing room in time to hear that. She flushed a little, then quickly paled; Bob, seeing her, smiled foolishly.

"They're all making such a silly fuss because Mrs. Hammond danced with me," he explained lamely to Sally. "I can't for the life of me see what all the excitement's about. A body would think she was the Queen of England!"

Sally smiled reassuringly, knowingly, at him; Sally knew deep within her just what she was up against in the rivalry of Mrs. Hammond—but if Bob did not, well, that was an advantage anyhow. But just then another voice was injected into the informal "back-stage dirt dishin'." Mazie Revere had undulated into the room in time to hear enough to understand Bob's last allusion. She said, with that nasty little trick of curling her underlip and pushing up one cynical shoulder:

"Say, Bob, Mrs. Hammond could buy and sell the Queen of England—and all the other Queens of Europe put together. Let me whisper something, you lucky big stiff! From what I saw, Mrs. Hammond has fallen for you worse than Jack Johnson fell for Jess Willard. Swell little lovenest apartment and everything—waitin'—oh, it's pay day on the Park Avenue ritzy circuit for you, Big Boy!"

Bob, far from finding fun in the lothing, or pleasure in the anticipation of Mrs. Hammond's largesse, was genuinely disturbed and pained. Sally, with chipper tosses of her little head shaking the combed-honey hair around like electric spray, and with sparks flaming from her eyes and her lips. "Mazie, you've got some nerve to talk to Mr. Ward that way! Why should he care anything about Mrs. Hammond? She's just one of the patrons to him!"

"Say, unless he's a big sap he's hearing the canaries chirping in that love nest already!"

"Mazie, how dare you—"

"How dare I? Say, to whom do you think you're talking, Angel Face? Who gave you any license to speak up for Big Boy, here? He looks big enough to talk for himself!"

"Oh, now, please—Miss Revere—Miss Smith—please—"

But Bob had no chance to be heard. This was strictly a personal fight between Mazie and Sally; with Freddy and Arch amused, with Madame Leonine puzzled, and with Bob upset.

Sally sailed right back to Mazie; "You're giving Mr. Ward a fine opinion of this place the very first day he works here!"

"What's aching you, kid? Afraid it'll smother your lilywhite wings in his eyes? Say, no Alec big enough to go to college would come here and think he was going to prayer meeting. And, being he's here, he's got such swell chances to make a killing, he'd be a terrible boob to pass it up. I wouldn't!"

"No, YOU wouldn't!"

Sally, bristling, faced the buzom Mazie as a bantam gamecock might face an eagle. She was almost standing on her tiptoes, so tense was she with excitement and anger.

Madame Leonine, in whom bewilderment had by now been replaced by a comprehension of the situation, stepped between them sarcastically:

"Dry up, you two. I think you've both got a nerve, talking for Mr. Ward!"

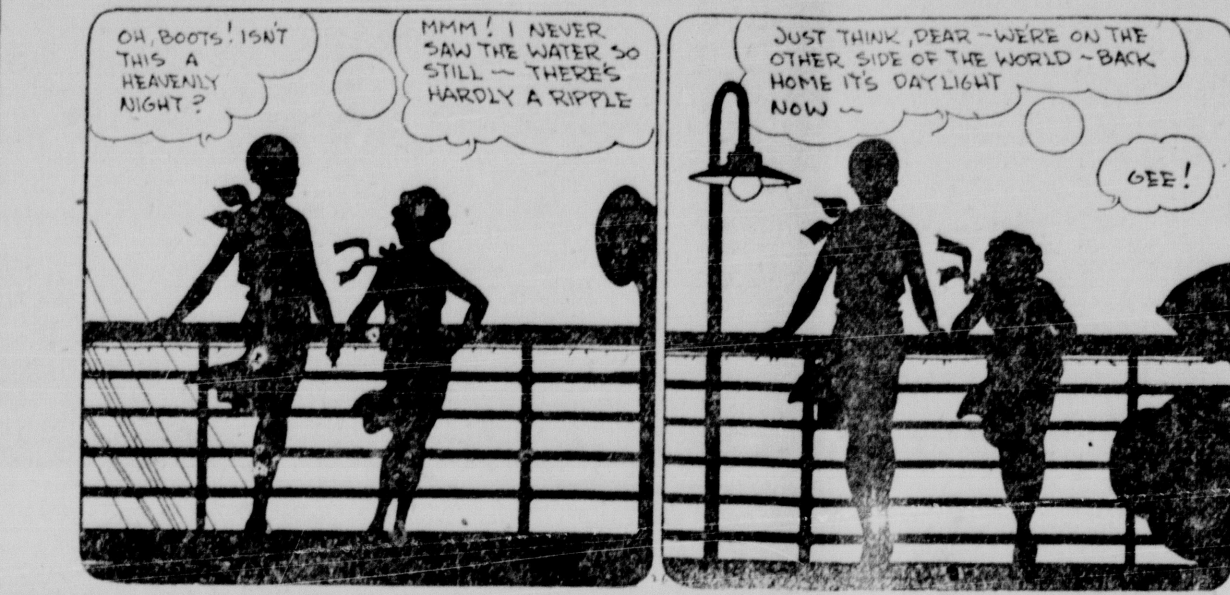

Then the Madame smiled benevolently; she had much good reason to be content, had the Madame. "I can overlook a lot of foolishness in Sally. She's young and green. But you, Mazie, losing your bean over a collar-and-man—I didn't think you had it in you anymore."

The Madame managed to signal Mazie with a diplomatic wink. Mazie accepted the appeal to reason and subsided in favor of peace; leaving Sally to cool without further aggravation—which Sally did, feeling rather foolish in the process, and casting sly glances at Bob!

Bob, relieved at the cessation of hostilities, breathed easier.

"All ready, let's go!" he said to Freddy and Arch. "Miss Smith is going along now, too. Come on—we'll teach her some of the school yell!"

Siamese Procession Like Circus Parade

Bangkok, Siam—(AP)—Their majesties, the king and queen of Siam, are undertaking a state tour of their domains, accompanied by a retinue that would dwarf the most ambitious American circus parade by comparison.

They entered Chiangrai their northern capital, with a following more sumptuous and gorgeous than ever had been seen in the history of Siam.

There were 84 elephants in the procession. Their majesties were in the middle, following some 40 tuskers many of which were ridden by chaos (chiefs.) The British government's elephant, Pang Me Noi, whose temperament is that of a prima donna, immediately preceded the king's mount.

Contrary to general belief the Indian is not a vanishing race. Dr. Henry Langheim, superintendent of Fort Sill Indian Hospital, Lawton, Okla., says:

QUITE SO

VALET: Your bath is ready, sir. YOUNG ALGY: Good; you take it for me, Simmons, and be sure and have a cold shower.—TIT-BITS.

VIENNESE DYING OUT

Vienna—The Viennese are dying out because they don't want children. Gayety and intemperance are blamed for the fact that the death rate is 40 per cent more than the birth rate. Each year shows improvement in health statistics, but a still greater loss in births. Thirty-two thousand persons died last year, and there were only 23,000 births.

The Telegraph is the best advertising medium in this part of the state. Try an ad and be convinced.
